Spring in Pendaries???

Just when the temps were warming up and a few shoots of green grass were erupting, Mother Nature threw a snowball at us and we got about 15" of snow over the course of three days — March 16-18. Since temps had been so warm, the snow came down wet and heavy and it compacted as it piled up, so it didn't look that deep, but it was a pain to shovel. That snowfall brought our seasonal total to about 50" — still not up to our typical winter snowfall of around 60" - 80", but getting closer.

Wishing everyone a belated happy St. Patrick's Day and a warm Spring Equinox.
